SEXUAL HARASSMENT SHOULD NOT BE PART OF RIDING THE MBTA.

You have the right to a safe ride. The T takes all forms of sexual harassment seriously.

If you see someone exposing themselves, harassing others, or inappropriately touching or photographing others without their consent, please act.

Things you can do:
- Ask the targeted person if they need help.
- Tell an MBTA employee.
- Call the MBTA Transit Police.
- Use the See Say app.

I COULD HEAR THIS DUDE SAYING, “I’M JUST FOOLING AROUND, BRO”...

and then a young voice say, “Please, leave me alone,” and I knew something wasn’t right so I called the T police.

THE CAR WAS PACKED AND HE COULDN’T MANEUVER HIS WHEELCHAIR TOO WELL. I KNEW HE COULDN’T GET AWAY ...

from the woman harassing him so I squeezed between them and texted the T police.

I COULD TELL SHE WASN’T SURE WHAT TO DO...

but I could see he was rubbing up against her. So we got off at the next stop and called the T police.
